A Public Meeting

NILL BE HELD at the Prairie Tavern.
South Saanich, on Saturday the 28th inst., at 70 clock P.M., for the purpose of discussing the utility of the Fourth Portfolio, and the influence of the Canadian Tariff upon the Agricultural interests of the country.
This meeting is the result of a challange given to Mr.
Bunster by the Chief Commissioner of Landa & Works.
The Electors of Victoria District are particularly in vited to be present, as the Chief Commissioner istends to justify the present Ministry in the course they pursued last session in refusing a Modification of the Tariff, and burdening the country with a fourth Portfolio and the creation of a sixth Minister.

BUPERE COURT-SECOND DAY .- Fisher ve. Bolbrook et al. - Action by Mr. Wm. Fisher, of Bequimalt, against Messra. Holbrook & Co. of New Westminster, to recover $850 for services as an accountant. The defendants paid vices as an accountant. The defendants paid $200 into Court, and contended that that som was sufficient to satisfy the claim. From the evidence of Mr. Fisher, Mr. Holbrook and other witnesses, it appeared that last year Mr. Fisher took charge of Messra. Holbrook & Co.'s books for several months, for the puspess of writing them up, and putting them in good order; and the point in dispute was the value of Mr. Fisher's services. It was the value of Mr. Fisher's services. It was to evalue of Mr. Fisher's services. It was contended by him that he devoted his nedivided time and skill to the task; and by the other side that he merely made notes and extracts from the books for his own amuse ment or use, and really did no good to the firm. Several professional accountants were called as witnesses to prove the condition of the books. The jury after a patient investigation of two days, gave a verdict for the de-fendants. > There are only three ways by which the colony can by honest means increase their stock of wealth, farming, manufactures and commerce, and whenever any Government interferes with eliber one of these it always does more harm than good; it was a failure, the history of all nations proves; supply and demand will always regulate these things in ernment can put into operation. England tried it in all shapes and forms for over four hundred years, and at last gave up the contest, and with the exception of five or six articles of luxury she has now thrown her trade open to the world, and has adopted the only true method of increasing her wealth; that is to buy where she can get goods the cheapest, and then selling where she can get the best price. And what is the result? Why her capital increases on her hands so fast that she can scarcely tell what use to put it to. It took a long time to persuade the landowners and farmers to give up the corn laws; they knew more about a fine breed of borses and cattle than they did about the science of political economy; and at last it was done through fear of a famine. And what is the result? Why notwithstanding all the extra capital, skill and machinery employed in cultivating the land ; it does not oduce half enough to support the inhabitants, and the land and its produce have kept advancing in price ever since. The Metwork of Railways in India. The annual report of Mr. Juland Danvers the British Government Director of Indian Railway Companies, published in January, 1872, furnishes, among much statistical mat ter, the information upon points of general in-terest relating to railway progress and its profits in Asia. The writer says:—The ex-Bristol and May's Prospecting License, same tent of railway communication open in India is 5,000 miles, of which 556 miles were completed in 1870-71, and 211 since. The three Mining Company. Presidence towns and the capitals of the North-west provinces and of the Punjab are united, and the system of trunk lines laid out by the late Lord Dalhousie may by regarded as completed. Commencing at Negapatam, the most southern terminus of the present Madras system, and proceeding by Bombay, Subbulpore, Aliababad and Lahore to Moultan, on the Indus, a continuous length of about 2,800 miles of railway has been formed. All this has been effected at a cost of ALEXANDRY'S GLOVES.—Turner, Beeton & Tunetall, London House, have received per Prince Alfred a large invoice of these celebrated gloves in the newest colors.
